Juror – Frank Ordaz

Thank you to Frank for being our juror for our 2017 PAL Open Juried Show.

Frank Ordaz is a fine art portrait painter and illustrator. Working in oils, Frank has the talent to capture a subject's personality in his work. From age 10, Frank studied with famed California master artist Theodore Lukits, a renowned art instructor. Frank attended the University of Southern California on an art scholarship. After two years he then transferred to the Art Center College of Design in Pasadena to study illustration. Upon graduation in 1980 Frank was highly recommended for a job with Industrial Light and Magic (ILM) working for filmmaker George Lucas in Northern California. There Frank did background matte paintings for specialized movie production effects and worked on films like 'ET' and others. He was awarded an Emmy for his contribution to the 'Ewok Movie'. Leaving movie work, and self-employed, his award-winning paintings and illustrations have been used in a line of Christian books, professional sports posters, specialty greeting cards and even a line of jigsaw puzzles. Ordaz lives in Auburn with his wife and family. His gallery is located at 843 Lincoln Way in Auburn. For more information about Frank Ordaz visit his website at Ordazart.com.
